For Speedy Enactment
In GOP Assembly

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—(AP)—The Illinois general assembly, quickly settling a course charted by Governor Green, today nudged along bills to oil the state soldier bonus machinery and to relieve strained finances of Illinois normal schools.

The senate advanced an $807,950 appropriation bill to pay bonus administrative costs between Feb. 1 and June 30. The house moved up a $1,077,762 emergency appropriation for educational and other expenses at the five teacher training institutions.

Both houses acted in perfunctory sessions preliminary to adjournment until Monday noon.

The Republican governor, in his biennial message opening the six months assembly yesterday, urged generous support of the schools and enactment of legislation needed for prompt administration of the $385,000 bonus program.

The measure appeared headed for swift trips through the GOP dominated assembly.

Other bills introduced would:

Hotel Fire of a hotel manager to report a fire within two minutes of discovery a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000.

Require as a fire prevention measure periodic cleaning and inspection of equipment used by hotels to carry off grease and smoke from cooking appliances, and providing heavy penalties for infractions.

Increase maximum monthly blind assistance payments from $40 to $50.

Provide an 11-man elective Chicago board of education and consolidate the Chicago park district and the city government.

Also awaiting lawmakers' action were bills to revise present state Supreme court districts and to license and regulate public and private hospitals, sanitariums and similar institutions.

The redistricting measure would

Hot Shampoo Foils
Would-Be Robber

Baltimore, Jan. 9.—(AP)—A Negro holdup man who invaded a beauty culture school was routed with a hot shampoo application, police reported last night.

They said the bandit attempted to rob ten Negro girls practicing the hairdresser's art on each other at the East Baltimore Beauty School. Miss Inez Fitzgerald seized a pan of oil shampoo simmering on an oil stove and threw it into the would-be robber's face, police said.

The bandit fled in painful confusion.

Portal Pay Claims

Than a Dozen Cities;
Offer Case Bill

By the Associated Press
Claims in the nation's portal to portal retroactive wage suits climbed to more than $3,700,000 today with the filing of new suits in federal courts across the country.

New suits were filed in more than a dozen cities yesterday, seeking a total of $19,435,578, and boosting the overall unofficial total to $3,715,685,370.

The biggest claim sought in the new actions was $28,500,000 against the Goodyear Aircraft Corp. in Akron, O. In Birmingham, Ala., iron ore miners filed suits against three steel production firms for $7,000,000, seeking compensation for time spent on mine properties before entering pits.

Other suits were filed in Chicago, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Omaha, Houston, Texas; Springfield, Ill.; Danville, Ill.; Sharon, Pa.; Lowellville, O.; Youngstown, O.; Sandusky, O., and Hubbard, O.

BILLS PREPARED

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Rep. Francis Case (R., S. D.) today completed work on a new "Case labor bill" and said it was intended to let labor and management live together in peace.

Case offered to the house his new version of a measure which passed congress last year but was killed by presidential veto.

In a statement he said he does not consider his measure "the bill" but "a bill" which he hopes will afford "an opportunity to meet our responsibilities in a comprehensive way."

Senate and house leaders have set January 20 as the "outside" date to start hearings on new labor legislation.

Case's new bill expands in some respects on the one which failed last year. In other aspects it goes beyond the top senate bill introduced by Senators Ball (R., Minn.), Taft (R., Ohio), and H. Alexander Smith (R., N. J.).

Fresh from a conference with CIO leaders, Senator James Murray (D., Mont.) said today that if congress passes "drastic labor legislation" it will create "serious bitterness and conflict."

On the other hand, he said, if no "restrictive, penalizing legislation" is enacted:

"I think that labor and management can get together and work out their differences without a serious wave of strikes."

Senator Murray told a reporter he was host at a small dinner last night, attended by CIO President Philip Murray, four or five other CIO men, and several Democrats.

THE MURDER CASE AGAINST Mrs. Elizabeth Weeks, 37-year-old Rochelle divorcee, was continued for several days yesterday by Judge court at Oregon when her attorney was unable to appear to represent her. Mrs. Weeks faces an indictment charging her with the murder of her newborn son.

Meanwhile, George Blymaster, 16, Daysville, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary. He was charged with burglarizing the Alfred Lundstrom store at Daysville shortly before Christmas.

Paul Moser, 21, Polo, and Fred Shugars, 22, Grand Detour, also pleaded guilty to burglary charges. Moser is charged with burglary of the Clarence R. Rademaker service station in Polo, and Shugars with burglary of the Grand Detour home of Joe Fassler.

Judge Zuck also appointed legal counsel for Doyle E. Burch, 23, charged with larceny of a motor vehicle belonging to Raymond Rasmussen, Rochelle. No date has been set for hearing the case, however.

Rent Control Fight
Imminent; O'Daniel
Would Scrap PlanIntroduces Bill Opposed
To Truman Appeal to Continue Program

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—President Truman's appeal for extension of rent control beyond June 30 collided in the senate today with a bill to junk the whole program Feb. 1.

Democratic Senator O'Daniel of Texas sponsored the legislation to eliminate controls and Republicans Wherry (Nebr.), Moore (Okla.) and Bushfield (SD), lined up in support of his proposal. Several other senators said controls should continue but that landlords should be permitted to increase rents as much as 15 per cent.

Spurred by a decision of the office of Temporary Controls to eliminate ceilings on transient rooms Feb. 15, organized real estate representatives renewed their demands that rentals of houses and apartments also be freed.

Would End All Control

"There is not a single reason for motor courts and hotels to get control that doesn't apply to apartment owners," Herbert U. Nelson, president of the National Association of Real Estate boards, declared in an interview.

In urging the scrapping of rent controls, O'Daniel recalled that he had demanded the end of all OPA restrictions last June.

"After the November election the new dealers finally saw the handwriting on the wall and got rid of most controls," he said.

"I think it's time now, if we want to follow the constitution, to throw all of them out and turn the government back to the people."

Demos Oppose FEFC

Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) said he favors an increase of "up to 15 per cent," and Senator Flinders (R-Vt.) urged a boost of "say five per cent every six months starting now" until "economic conditions" start rents on the down trend.

Meanwhile Truman faced a new threat today to his relations with congress—opposition within Democratic ranks to his indirect but repeated espousal of a permanent FEPC.

"Southerners flared up angrily over the president's action, which threatened to split the administration's own party into two camps as it had done in previous years."

Southerners Opposed

Truman did not mention the now-expired Fair Employment Practice Commissions by name, but he asked in his economic report to congress yesterday for permanent legislation to deal with the problem of race and religious discrimination against workers.

Southern Democrats, whose opposition blocked the selection of Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts as Democratic floor leader, said they would fight the proposal anew and predicted for it the same fate it has met in previous years.

Both Truman and his predecessor

Sees Misfit Suits
as Army Handicap

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) thinks "second hand and misfit clothing" is one of the Army's recruiting handicaps.

"You just can't ask a man to wear the things that too many are forced to wear," Thomas told a reporter today.

"I live near an Army post (Fort Sill, Okla.) and I've heard all the little complaints about misfit clothing."

"They feel they are not presentable to meet strangers when they go to the city from camp."

"Their clothing as a rule is not of a nature to welcome them to the polite society and they are embarrassed."

"So they seek out entertainment places where good influences are not maintained."

Former First Lady Now Says Sun
Was Cause of Automobile Mishap

White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said yesterday in an affidavit that when her car was involved in a collision with two other automobiles last August in Yonkers the "afternoon sun was shining directly in my eyes."

"There was a momentary lapse during which I crossed the white line and the accident occurred," she added in the document which was submitted at a hearing into the accident before a state motor vehicle commission referee.

Referee William F. Glasheen of Albany, who has authority to continue Mrs. Roosevelt's driver's license in force, suspend or revoke it, reserved decision in the case.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who was present at the hearing, explained in the affidavit she was unable to appear "for the reason that I had agreed to make a public address at a luncheon meeting, notice of which could not well be recalled."

She recounted her long experience driving cars and said:

"My vision has never bothered me in any way, either as to color or any other respect."

The widow of the late president lost several teeth in the accident. Albert Brooks, 51, of New York City, driver of the first car Mrs. Roosevelt's automobile allegedly struck, testified she told him "I must have dozed off."

The accident occurred shortly after 4:30 p. m. last Aug. 14 on the Saw Mill River parkway in Yonkers when Mrs. Roosevelt's car, southbound, crossed into the northbound lane of traffic.

Fred Hofmann

who today filed his petition as a candidate for Mayor of Dixon at the coming city primary election

Fred Hofmann Files
Nomination Papers
in Mayoralty Race

Fred Hofmann, 39-year-old Dixon businessman and a veteran of World War II, today threw his hat in the ring as a candidate for mayor of Dixon at the spring primary election and announces that he proposes to make a vigorous campaign and offer a constructive program for a better Dixon.

Mr. Hofmann is the first candidate to file a petition, although it is understood that there will be at least two other candidates, as both Mayor William V. Slothower and Walter C. Knack have indicated their intention of running.

Fred Hofmann was born in Dixon, Ill., and lives at 514 East Chamberlin street. He attended the Dixon public schools and graduated from Dixon high school in 1926. He graduated from Northwestern University in 1930 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration, School of Commerce, was a member of Phi Gamma Delta, a fraternity, and served as the student council, was a member of "N" Men's club, had three years of track and was on the Freshman basketball team. He then took a post-graduate course in Heating and Air-Conditioning Work at the Chicago Heat Institute.

In Brokerage Business

Mr. Hofmann owned and operated a successful insurance and real estate brokerage office in Dixon until he entered the U. S. Army as a private in June, 1942.

He served with the 91st Infantry division 3 1/2 years. Served overseas in Africa and Italy for 19 months, was awarded the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster. While serving with the 362nd Infantry regiment of the 91st division as artillery Liaison Officer and Forward Observer, he received the Distinguished Unit Badge, a Commendation from the British Fifteenth Corps and Field Marshal Alexander and four battle stars, and

Household Appliances
To Be More Functional

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Household appliances, for which there is a tremendous backlog of consumer demand, this year will be more attractive and functional than ever before.

Exhibits on display at the American Furniture Mart and the Merchandise Mart, where the two-week January furnishings market is being held, stress efficiency combined with beauty of design.

One firm featured what it calls the "electric sink" with a built-in dishwasher set permanently in the sink.

Another company displayed a foldaway rotary iron, which collapses into an attractive, streamlined cabinet when not in use.

Amboy Man Victim of Fatal Accident
In Mendota TodayJohn J. Cole, 57, is Struck
By Illinois Central Train

John J. Cole, 57, Amboy, field manager for the fluid milk operations of the Borden Milk company, died at the Harris hospital, Mendota, at 11:45 a. m. today from injuries caused when he was struck by a freight train near the Mendota depot earlier this morning.

Cole, who was waiting for a train to Chicago, was struck by a south-bound Illinois Central freight at 9 a. m. as he crossed the tracks on his way from the depot to Mendota's business district.

Inquest Time Unset

He suffered a fractured right leg, crushed ribs and other internal injuries, hospital authorities said at noon today, which caused his death.

Prior to joining the Borden Company, Cole was affiliated with the Amboy Milk Products company for 30 years.

Surviving him are his wife and a daughter, Ellen, who lives in Madison, Wis. No definite time had been set at noon today for the inquest.

Ex-Judge Asks Dismissal of Conspiracy Charges

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Albert W. Johnson, 73-year-old former federal judge who was called "wicked" and "malicious" by a congressional committee and accused of selling "justice for all the traffic would bear," seeks dismissal today in U. S. District court of indictments charging him with conspiracy against the government.

Johnson, who lives in Lewisburg, Pa., resigned his federal judgeship on July 3, 1945 after 22 years on the bench. Previously, he had served 10 years as a common pleas court judge.

Last Jan. 31, the U. S. house of representatives' judiciary committee reported that "almost every litigant who had the misfortune to appear before this wicked, and malicious judge became the immediate object of crooked conspiracy whose interest was the amount of money that could be extorted from him for justice or the evasion of justice."

Johnson called the report "malicious" and based on lies.

Models Decide on Pay
Rate, With or Without

New Francisco, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The new Association of Professional Models here will decide Sunday how much its members want to charge for posing—both dressed and sans clothing—and whether to affiliate with the CIO or AFL.

The group has asked for a raise from $1 an hour to $1.50 for "dressed" work and from $1.50 to $2 for nude posing.

The San Francisco museum of art, the San Francisco state college and others have agreed to meet the scale. But the Academy of Advertising Arts and the California Association of Fine Arts, however, are sticking to a flat rate of $1.50 for all posing.

Asked why the models charge 50 cents more for nude posing, Dorothy Vetter, treasurer of the association said:

"We really don't know ourselves. Just tradition I guess. It's really more comfortable without clothing—unless the studios are cold."

Forreston Banker
Hurt in Collision

Herman Brandt of the Forreston State Bank, and well known throughout Ogle county, was seriously injured in an automobile accident on the main street of Forreston at 12:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon on state route 26.

He was driving to his home at the noon hour and at a street intersection his car was struck by a milk truck, reported to have been driven by Harry Izer of Polo.

The banker's vision was obstructed by a north bound truck which had just passed the street intersection and prevented him seeing the approaching milk truck. He was removed to the office of a physician where he received first aid treatment and then was taken in an ambulance to the Deaconess hospital at Freeport. An x-ray examination revealed that he had sustained fractures of several ribs and minor cuts and bruises and was suffering from severe shock.

It was first thought that he had suffered a skull fracture but the examination at the hospital did not disclose such an injury. Both the truck and the car were considerably damaged in the collision.

Lower Food Prices
Seen by Experts in Commodity MarketsEggs Single Exception in Composite Opinion of Leading Brokers

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The men who are among the best informed about food prices, the brokers on the country's commodity exchange markets, think prices will go lower.

Many New Year predictions have been made recently by banks, economists and businessmen concerning future prices. But the forecasts on exchanges are the composite opinions of brokers dealing in the commodities.

Butter prices are high, but you can buy some butter today on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange for delivery in June at about 53 cents a pound. That's around 22 cents under the present wholesale prices.

For the average person who just wants some butter to spread on bread that wouldn't be practical—you'd have to take 19,200 pounds, which is the amount represented by a "futures" contract. To save yourself from being drowned in butter you'd better sell before delivery day.

Today's Best Guess

Significance of that 53 cent price, however, is that it is today's best guess of the butter and egg men on what the wholesale price will be this summer.

In nearly all markets in which food is traded for future delivery, a similar trend is shown. Eggs are a single exception. In most cases, the most distant the delivery, the lower the price.

Take wheat, which is basic for bread, macaroni and other foods. Its cash price at Chicago is around $2.20 a bushel. If you buy for March delivery, it's $2.04. For July it's $1.79, or 40 cents under present cash prices. Other grains follow that pattern.

Santos coffee will cost 26 cents a pound for delivery in January but only 23 cents for next December.

Heckman Seeking
Release in Plea

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus by Robert Heckman, 24, committed to the Illinois Security hospital, Menard, Ill., in Lee county Circuit court Jan. 30, 1946, after being found insane, was filed in Circuit court here today.

Heckman was indicted here on three charges, assault to commit rape and assault with a deadly weapon.

His petition, which states that he entered the Security hospital Feb. 6, 1946, claims that he now is "sane and normal," and asks for an open hearing to ascertain the right to continue his "innocent and deprivation of liberty."

Heckman's arrest followed a subsequent commitment followed a series of attacks on women on the streets of Dixon last winter.

Judge George C. Dixon this morning continued a hearing on the petition until Jan. 13, by which time State's Attorney Morey C. Pires may file objections.

Meanwhile, Paul Lennon, placed under $500 peace bond earlier this week by Judge Dixon, was released from custody this morning when he posted security for his bond.

Roomers Held Prisoner Two Hours
as Landlord's Safes Are Robbed

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(AP)—A gang of bandits, carrying revolvers and shotguns, routed 12 persons from a three-story west side rooming house last night and while several gunmen held them prisoner for nearly two hours their companions broke open two safes owned by John McKenzie, the landlord. Money and other possessions of the roomers were ignored by the gunmen.

McKenzie, 64, was not at home at the time, but early today he told Des Plaines police he had $11,900, jewelry and "lots of mortgages" in the safes. Police said McKenzie had lived in the old mansion all his life and owned considerable property on the west side.

The roomers herded from their apartments by the bandits included ed four women, one an invalid, a 15-year-old boy, and seven men. The robbers, believed to number from six to eight, tied the men's hands with rope after forcing them into a basement room. They carried Mrs. Ernest Beggs, 51, an invalid, from her second floor room to the first floor, and also allowed Mrs. Betty Ann Teel, 19, an expectant mother, to return to her second-floor room from the basement.

While two robbers remained on guard in the basement, others broke into McKenzie's first floor room and drilled open the two safes and escaped with the contents.

The roomers in the basement said the bandits told them: "L. I. m. if you had $1,000 on you, we wouldn't touch it. We're after that stuff upstairs."

Divorces Obtained in Other States Illegal

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Divorces obtained in other states by Illinois residents were declared illegal yesterday by the Illinois Appellate court.

The decision, written by Judge John C. Leve, reversed a Circuit court order upholding a divorce obtained by Casimir S. Wicks in Las Vegas, Nev.

It was the first Illinois ruling since a recent U. S. Supreme court decision that such a divorce is invalid.

The Appellate decision said Wicks, who has legally changed his name from Wiczas, went to Nevada for the purpose of procurring a divorce. The lower court, Judge Leve stated, should have considered this "concealment of facts."

The Nevada divorce, from Mrs.

Mathilda Wiczas was granted on Aug. 11, 1943. Three weeks later Wicks remarried in Los Angeles and returned to Chicago in February of 1944.

"Fixer" Paris May Get Prison; 2 Grid Stars Facing Bans

Filchok, Hapes May Be Banned for Life From Pro Football Ranks

New York, Jan. 8—(AP)—Smooth-talking Alvin J. Paris faced a possible prison term of 10 years and a fine of $20,000 today as the result of his conviction on charges of attempting to "rig" the Dec. 15 professional football title game between the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears.

His father, Sidney Paris, told newsmen shortly after his son's conviction by a General Sessions court jury late yesterday that the verdict would be appealed. The jury of 10 men and two women deliberated only 65 minutes before returning the verdict.

The police investigation apparently did not end with conviction of the dapper Paris, who was specifically charged with offering bribes to Merle Hapes and Frank Filchok, backfield players of the Giants, to "lay down" in the game.

Ask Paris to Co-operate Judge Sam S. Street, who fixed Jan. 28 for imposing sentence, told Paris after the verdict:

"My advice to you is Co-operate with the district attorney if you expect any consideration from this court."

Assistant District Attorney George P. Monaghan, who prosecuted the case had said he considered Paris an agent of a gambling syndicate possibly centering in New Jersey.

Each count of the two-count indictment against Paris carries maximum penalties of a $10,000 fine and five years imprisonment.

Immediately after the conviction, Hapes and Filchok were suspended by Bert Bell National Professional Football league commissioner who said that an immediate hearing would be conducted to decide on possible league action against the two.

May Get Life Ban

Bell said the suspension of the players, who testified Tuesday as to the alleged bribe offers, meant neither could participate in any league activity until a decision in the case was announced.

Both Filchok and Hapes admitted on the stand they had not told police or Giants officials of the alleged bribe offers. Filchok testified he had informed Mayor William O'Dwyer a few hours before the game that he had not been offered a bribe, although he said this was untrue.

Bell said when one case first broke that he considered withholding of information conduct detrimental to football and that such an offense could be punishable by lifetime banishment from the National league.

Filchok had been permitted to play against the Bears, losing the passes leading to his team's only scores. The Bears won 24-14. Hapes had not been permitted to participate.

The defense surprisingly rested its case yesterday without calling a witness. The prosecution had completed its case in a single day on Tuesday. The trial opened Monday when the jury was selected.

Clinic Planned for Rockford Jan. 16

A clinic for physically handicapped children in this area will be held from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. Thursday, Jan. 16 in the physiotherapy department of the St. Anthony's hospital, Rockford. Dr. Herbert R. Kobes, state director of services for crippled children announced today.

News behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

(Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—A somewhat enigmatic revelation of Russia's intent toward the world has been presented by her atomic position.

Although no authority here is speaking frankly or fully, you may see the results across the front pages—Mr. Baruch resigns, urges more bombs, a general demands industry build underground factories in a defense program, the administration wants military training again, etc.

Now we have the bomb. No other nation presumably has it. (Stalin said Russia does not.) Resigning, Mr. Baruch says we should keep on making the weapon. Yet Russia has sternly taken the stand that security councilors in UNO be permitted to veto punishment of offenders to world atomic tranquility. This hardly makes clear sense. In any natural reasoning, you would expect Russia would be eager to punish offenders, the only known possible offender being the United States. In straight common sense you would think Russia would gleefully back any move to restrict or obstruct manufacture of the bomb by a capitalistic nation.

By what reasoning then could she possibly have come to vote against the generous Baruch plan for an international agreement, inspection (she has agreed to this) and punishment of violations?

The only conclusive answer in logic is unbelievable. Could she expect to become a violator, or knows someone who will? Why else would she want to protect violators? Why else would she insist upon right of veto against punishment?

Obviously Russia does not expect us to use the bomb or contemplate war by us. For, if she did, she would be insisting upon a position opposite the one she maintains today—namely that we, as members of the security council, be not permitted to veto punishment of ourselves by the UNO. If Russia had any genuine fear, that would be her position. But only if she had the bomb, or contemplated getting it and using it for purposes of world revolution.

upon our lawyers—as they help us through a maze of Blackstonian English until at life's end, we give, bequeath, devise, transfer and assign away our worldly goods.

The Simple Life

How adversity simplifies our tastes and sharpens our desires! In 1928 America heard without noticeable excitement the promise of "two chickens in every pot and two cars in every garage," and accepted it as its just due. In 1947 that same America—or at least the adult male portion of it—was all agog at the promise that, sometime during the year, there would be two pairs of pants with every new suit.

could she convincingly justify the obstructionist position to peace she has taken.

This simple, reasoned analysis of what may lie beyond current UNO atomic events is getting around high spots here. Frankly our officials do not know. They wonder. The prospect is that Baruch's resignation will force our leadership into the hands of Chairman Austin of our UNO delegation, a man less sensitive to the sharper points of international diplomacy than Baruch. In the ordinary course, the Baruch program will be argued before the security council for weeks and months with nothing being done. In some ways, by this, Russia appears to have won an advantage, because Austin (the newspapers publicly proclaim this) is more apt to conciliate and appease the Russians.

Most authorities believe the whole Baruch commission quit because it has drawn the lines upon which the program could be worked out and sees ahead only a typical, interminable argument before the security council which Austin is the logical man to conduct because of his position of the council. Behind these convictions is the feeling that a sincere or early agreement is not in prospect. For an example of the confusion, Russia agreed not to veto inspections of atomic manufacturing, yet one reason offered for her insistence upon vetoing any punishment is that she does not want to let an international commission see what she is doing at home—thus no one knows how effective could be the agreement for inspection.

Yet many an official here thinks Russia will change her mind suddenly again now on this punishment feature. Certain prognosticators around the State department are privately predicting Stalin will order his diplomats to change around to the other side of the question and permit an agreement to go through the security council.

Actually interest here is far from intense. Authorities say: Let the question dangle. Hardly anyone has a doubt that the United States should go ahead and take care of its own problem in the matter, regardless of what positions the Russians take. The military, for example, seems to be awake to what might be demanded of it suddenly even if an agreement is made. The diplomats have a feeling Russia might take the other side of any question no matter what position they advance. Perhaps even a plane deal with certain Latin American countries will be announced soon.

The only tense suggestion I hear mentioned is in some Republican quarters where a vague demand can be heard for strengthening the Republican representation in UNO. After all, Austin was the choice of Mr. Truman. Some Republicans think the Republicans might do well to make their own choice—hereafter at least in UNO matters, especially in view of some joint responsibility for foreign policy which has been assigned to them by the electorate through control of both houses of congress. I have heard no particular opposition to Austin personally, merely expression of a latent desire of some Republicans to assert the party interest more directly in UNO leadership.

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—When Thomas F. Meany was up for confirmation by the senate on his appointment to the United States District court for New Jersey, in 1942, there was much complimentary testimony as to his personal character, his patriotism and his legal ability. But all the opposition did object on the ground that he appeared to be a political creature of the boss, Frank Hague, of Jersey City. Charles Edison, the governor, a Democrat himself and late secretary of the navy under President Roosevelt, said: "The record indicates beyond any question that he has done his boss' will. The basic question is whether you are not, in effect, putting Frank Hague on the bench. The conclusion is 'yes'."

Mr. Meany was confirmed, nevertheless, but he must have realized that in time he would find himself under cold and questioning observation in a criminal trial of some such old friend of Boss Hague as Joe Fay, the drunken, brawling union racketeer, who now comes before Judge Meany charged with evading his income taxes on the enormous graft which he extorted from the contractors on the Delaware aqueduct job.

Judge Meany, may be incorruptible, but he has no right to object if others observe his conduct of this trial, and the outcome, in the mood of the governor who believed he had done the boss' will before and might do it again.

The boss is loyal to his henchmen, and Fay has been one of them for years. Fay is a vice president of the Operating Engineers' union, made up of the men who run the machinery and perform a lot of mock-jobs amounting to political patronage on heavy construction projects. Among those mock-jobs is that of "hamburger man," a political bum who gets $10 a day ostensibly to oil machinery which needs oiling about as often as your watch and actually puts in his time sitting around the hamburger joint. On public construction he does this at your expense. The union has been a shakedown device for Fay and a lot of other arrogant crooks—he is now under conviction and a long prison sentence in the state of New York—for years and years. Fay's home and headquarters have been in Newark, where Judge Meany sits in the Federal court.

Fay worked both sides of the street. He not only bossed and bullied the honest working stiff who did the work, but he operated a company which chartered heavy machinery to the contractors. He could withhold labor from contractors who didn't rent his machinery. And, of course, he regularly collected shake as insurance against "labor trouble," no matter where the contractors got their equipment.

All this while, he was as close to Hague as Judge Meany was. He still is a Hague man. Meany is a Hague man. And those who came down to Washington in 1942 to endorse Meany included Robert F. Lynch, the president of the Hudson county building and construction council, and Joseph Quinn, the president of the Hudson county Central Labor union. Those both are within Fay's jurisdiction as vice-president of the Operating Engineers, and Hudson county is the county in which Meany sat for 11 years as judge of the juvenile court and five years as judge of the Court of Common Pleas before he was nominated to the Federal court.

During the hearings on Meany's confirmation, H. Alexander Smith, Princeton university, one of the few Republicans who spoke against him, the other opponents being anti-Hague Democrats, tried to put in a capsule the particular deal or coincidence which aroused most of the suspicion. He had a theory that Meany had taken part in a political move so that Boss Hague's young son, Frank Hague Jr., could be appointed to the Court of Errors and Appeals, which is the Supreme court of the state of New Jersey, when he was just a cub lawyer.

He said he was shocked when Governor Moore, a Hague man, said: "It would please young Hague's father" if he got this job. The phrase attributed to Governor Moore at the time was, "I know it will make his daddy happy."

The sequence of events was this: Meany quit the Common Pleas court, which paid $15,000 a year, to become counsel to the state banking department to handle the affairs of the distressed New Jersey Title Guaranty and Trust Co. at $20,000 a year. Judge

Walker stepped down from the Court of Errors and Appeals to Meany's place on Common Pleas and young Hague got Walker's place. Meany finished his job in the bank case and in due time was nominated to the Federal court.

John Longo, another Democrat and a hell-raising martyr, appearing against Meany, said: "I charge that many Hague directors of the New Jersey Title Guaranty and Trust Company knew it was insolvent ten days before its closing and used their information to permit Hague favorites to withdraw enormous sums. I charge that Meany was placed in his bank position to assure the Hague organization that the circumstances under which favored depositors were preferred over less fortunate depositors would be forever suppressed."

Longo did nine months in jail, without bail, by order of the same Court of Common Pleas, but not by Judge Meany's order, while men accused of murder easily got bail. He finally was stuck with a technical conviction on a perjury charge. Meany denied that he had suppressed any records in the bank case and the senate finally did give him the benefit of the doubt and confirmed him.

Recently, Meany sat in a trial of Ben Pross, as rotten a crook as you will meet in the rogues' gallery of the American Federation of Labor, and two other defendants in a black market liquor case. Pross had three convictions on his record, including a four-year stretch in Atlanta, so he didn't dare take the witness stand. It was an open-and-shut case involving 1,000 dozen bottles of booze eased into the black market at southern military camps during the war. For this our brave boys were stuck to the extent of $25 a quart on their nights off in the dirty jukes. The alcohol tax unit of the Treasury gave the Department of Justice excellent evidence. But, nope, brother Pross, who is business agent of a filthy underworld racket disguised as a local of the Wine, Liquor and Distillery Workers' union, somehow managed to get acquitted. The other two were convicted. And then Judge Meany set aside the convictions of the two co-defendants and the federal district attorney in Newark quietly gave up and dropped the indictments. So they all walked out.

This is the same district attorney's office that now prosecutes another crooked oneicer, before the same Judge Meany, all parties to the case being loyal members of the circle of friends of Boss Hague.

I try not to be suspicious, but it takes an effort these days and sometimes it doesn't work, even so.

Fast Worker

... with the help of an AUTOMATIC Water Heater

Ask this clever housewife how she polishes up a stack of dinner dishes so quickly and she'll tell you about her wonderful new automatic water heater. Thanks to the abundant hot water it supplies, her dishes come clean in seconds. She shines them up and is out of the kitchen in no time at all.

There's no waiting for water to heat or tiresome check-up trips to the basement when you have a modern water heater. The water heats automatically and is ready for use any hour of the day. Heating water automatically is thrifty, too . . . the special low rate for heating water makes the cost reasonable. And no heat is wasted . . . thick insulation of the modern water heater keeps the heat inside.

Modern automatic water heaters are clean and attractive, too . . . can be installed in the laundry or playroom.

Plan now to enjoy all the comforts an automatic water heater will bring you and your family. Watch for them at your dealer's store.

All your household tasks will be easier with a ready supply of hot water from an automatic water heater. Give your family the additional comforts and conveniences of a truly modern way of life.

SIDNEY went into the St. George Hotel at two o'clock in the afternoon and asked the clerk where she could find Mr. Hubert Milgrim. Not that she really thought it would do any good; but this was Friday, this was the dead line, and even the futile effort was better than none at all.

The clerk said he had no idea under the sun where Mr. Milgrim was to be found.

"Isn't he registered here?"

"He was," the clerk admitted. "Mr. Milgrim has been our guest since last April. He checked out a while ago. And Mr. Breen, too."

"Breen?"

"His friend and comrade." The clerk smiled pleasantly, having an eye for a girl with a face like that. "I think they left at once, but maybe not. It's possible they're in the cafe, or still up in the rooms they've been occupying. Third floor, 220 and 222. If you want to look for them."

Sidney said, "Thank you," and went to the door of the cafe. But she wouldn't know Mr. Milgrim if she saw him; she'd never even heard of Mr. Breen. She asked the head waiter if the gentlemen were dining there; the head waiter said no, not today. She went back through the lobby to the elevator and got off at the third floor. It was a forlorn hope, nothing more.

Room 220 was empty—as she had feared; though showing signs of recent tenancy, it was neat. Room 222 was just as empty, but not so neat. Cigarette ashes and stubs soiled the carpet, paper torn or wadded into balls cluttered the bureau top and spilled over into a brimming waste-basket. A discarded envelope was addressed to "Mr. Richard Breen." This must have been his room then, and Mr. Breen obviously was a person of slovenly habits who had left m-some haste. Well, the point was, and the only point, that he had gone, and Mr. Milgrim with him—and with Mr. Milgrim the money Papa had borrowed from Jeff, which belonged rightfully to Jeff and nobody else and would have taken him to New York—which Sidney had thought she somehow might recover, probably by putting the case squarely before Mr. Milgrim and beseeching his better instincts.

"No soap," Sidney thought.

"That's that. The jig is up."

She was turning away when she saw the torn shreds of the letter. They were lying on the carpet and a little draft of wind, perhaps only the flutter of Sidney's skirt as she moved, stirred them so that they seemed to be alive, beckoning. Strips of paper, somebody's letter in longwise tatters. Of course, Sidney didn't know whose letter it was. But she looked down, and then she knew.

Rose's writing, a schoolgirl's Spencerian, very legible; and the letterhead that of the Willard Hotel, Washington.

"Darling Rick, I miss you so much. . . . Nothing matters to me but. . . . Do you remember how we. . . . Every minute we're apart. . . . I've loved you since that day."

Sidney read the fragmentary sentences; she could guess how they had ended, with phrases equally innocuous, but that didn't help her to understand them. Not at first.

"Rick, dearest, the convocation is. . . . All I'm thinking of, dreaming. . . . You know how I hated coming. . . . I'll never love anybody but you, and. . . ."

Leaning against the wall, reading, fingering the shreds, Sidney began to see in them not only Rose's artless avowals, other things too, small and puzzling inconsistencies of behavior, evasions, contradictions, a Rose who had changed gradually yet greedily since—

Richard Breen. He had been here in Blakesville, the clerk said, since last April.

Yes, that would be about the time, wouldn't it? Before the night at Mrs. Rutherford Earle's house and Rose's election as the Daughters of the Old Dominion's delegate, before her meeting with Dixon Thayer, and Dixon's visit and proposal. April? "Darling Rick, dearest."

Poor Dixon! Why, he'd never had a chance!

Spring, summer, and now September, and Richard gone. But he must have been lost to Rose, dropping out of the picture somewhere, somehow, in those intervening months. What was he like? What could he have been like? "I'll never love anybody but you."

Was that true, Sidney wondered. Because if it was, Rose would be terribly hurt. Or already had been hurt. Or—

Sidney believed suddenly that she ought to go home.

At almost that very moment, Major Cameron, feeling rather rattled, was entering Judge Logan's office. Just over the sill, the Major halted, for he saw that someone had preceded him. Judge Logan and this other caller were standing by the window, they seemed to be in argument.

"You're not telling me, Logan," the caller shouted, "that this old buzzard knew nothing about—"

"Now don't burst a blood vessel," Judge Logan said.

"But, drat it, I wasn't born yesterday."

"Take it easy," Judge Logan said.

The Major coughed.

"Oh," Judge Logan said, swinging on his heel. "Oh, hello, Major Cameron. Let me introduce you to Mr. Lardner, the county prosecutor."

The Major bowed; Mr. Lardner only grunted.

"Sit down," Judge Logan said.

They all sat down, the Major diffidently, on the edge of a chair, Mr. Lardner flinging himself into the depths of his chair, grunting, biting off the end of a cigar, lighting the cigar.

Cub Scouts Try Reorganization in Amboy Meetings

(Telegraph Special Service)
Amboy—Cub scouting began again in Amboy with a Pack meeting Friday night. Fifteen boys showed interest, and two den mothers, Mrs. Forrest Pryor and Mrs. Harold Hanson, volunteered. Another mother is needed immediately to form another group. Cub scouting is organized around the "den," which is a neighborhood group, under the direction of a "den mother," and a boy scout, called a "den chief." There may be any number of these dens making up a "pack."

The pack is under the direction of a cubmaster, and a pack committee. Rev. D. J. Bennett is cubmaster and Cecil Emery, Les Ullensvang, Bob Smith make up the pack committee.

The den groups meet weekly to train the boys in cubbing activities, and to work on a project.

At the pack meeting, which takes place once a month, the parents of the boys, come with the boys to see the project they have been working on, and to hold a meeting at which awards are presented. The Cub scout program is home-centered and depends for its success on the earnest help of the fathers and mothers of the Cubs.

State Senate Honors Joliet Man's Service

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—(AP)—The Illinois senate yesterday honored Senator Richard J. Barr, 81-year-old Republican of Joliet and dean of the state senate, who is starting his 45th year as a legislator.

Spectators in the gallery rose and gave the genial Barr an ovation when he entered the senate chambers. Some 100 persons from the 41st district traveled from Joliet to Springfield to pay tribute to him.

Circuit Judge James V. Bartley of Joliet said Barr's constituents would present him with an electric clock "because with him time never ends."

Expressing appreciation, Barr said he had visited many legislative bodies of the world and he believed the Illinois assembly "was the finest."

Mrs. Barr, Richard T. Barr Jr., a son, and Mrs. Mary Barr West, a daughter, were introduced to the senate by Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross.

Cat Nabs Bunny

Chicago — (AP)—Walter Rogers and his wife, Hazel, were awakened yesterday morning by a disturbance in their home in suburban Skokie — and found their cat "Ditto" had kidnapped a rabbit.

The Rogerses were puzzled by the manner in which "Ditto" managed to carry the rabbit up a 10-foot long, four-inch ramp to a bedroom window and through a six-inch trap door.

There was quite a commotion when "Ditto" and the rabbit landed in the bedroom. The rabbit sought refuge in the bathroom and the Rogerses held "Ditto" prisoner in the kitchen. Then the rabbit was turned loose outside the home.

Bigamist Suicides as Result of Domestic Rift

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(AP)—One woman wept but the other maintained a stoical composure when a coroner's jury returned a verdict yesterday that Norman Hart, 42-year-old truck driver, committed "suicide while despondent over domestic difficulties."

The women, both widows of Hart, said they had known for a year and a half that he was a bigamist, maintaining his home, with 42-year-old Josephine and their seven children while visiting 28-year-old Jean during the daytime.

But they met for the first time at the inquest. They said Hart married Jean two years ago without obtaining a divorce from Josephine. Both women learned of Hart's dual marriage six months ago.

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH

With More Comfort
FASTEETH, a pleasant alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly. To eat and talk in more comfort, just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

New York Robber is Linked to Cop Murder

New York, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Police said today fingerprints disclosed that Henry Hitson, 38-year-old Negro under arrest, was the man wanted by police of Forest Park, Ill., on a murder charge in the death last September 30 of Police Lieut. Herman Ziebell.

Hitson was arrested here yesterday after an 18-block taxicab chase and was charged with assault, robbery and illegal possession of a revolver. Police said Hitson entered a woman's apartment, and beat her with a pistol butt. Her shrieks brought police.

Ziebell was shot and killed as they who bring sunshine to the hearts of others cannot keep it from themselves.—J. M. Barrie.

JULIUS SCHAMBERGER
(Telegraph Special Service)
Paw Paw — Julius Conrad Schamberger was born to Mr. and Mrs. Johann Schamberger on July 3, 1861. He departed from this life on Jan. 1, 1947. He was 85 years, 5 months and 29 days old.

His birthplace was Unterwosgen, Germany. Mr. Schamberger had 3 brothers and 3 sisters and so far as is known, they all preceded him in death.

He learned the trade of tailoring while serving in military training in the German army. This trade of tailoring became his vocation.

He came to Mendota in 1889. Four years later he moved to Paw Paw. Mr. Schamberger continued to tailor here in this community until he retired the first day of May, 1946.

He was united in marriage to Amelia Leicht on Jan. 12, 1890. She preceded him in death by 12 years. They were both members of the German Lutheran church of Mendota.

Mrs. Alma Alexander of Paw Paw was their only child. Besides his daughter, he leaves one grandson, Edison Hemphill of Salina.

TWO LABOR UNIONS

When the United Mine Workers, mining 87 per cent of our coal, went on strike, the Progressive Mine Workers of America, mining 13 per cent, stayed on the job.

These two unions provide a contrast between democracy and autocracy in labor.

The Progressive Mine Workers of America has 35,000 members and the United Mine Workers has 400,000. The larger union, no doubt, justifies a difference in the pay of its president. John L. Lewis, head of the U. M. W., gets $25,000 a year, plus John Marchand, president of the Progressive Mine Workers, gets about the same wage as his men who dig the coal. The Progressives do not have one-man rule. Their president is elected for a two-year term and cannot succeed himself. The officials of the Progressives are not long out of the mines. The man who will probably succeed Marchand next year was mining coal until two months ago. Under this setup it is impossible for any small group to climb to permanent power over the union.

The Progressives broke apart from the U. M. W. some fourteen years ago. It took rioting and bloodshed to tear themselves loose. Twenty-two of the Progressives were killed in their struggle for independence. They believe many of the obedient and file of the U. M. W. are rank and file of the U. M. W. because of fear. The Progressives publish audited financial statements every six months, which are sent to all members, showing income and expenses in detail.

As against this democratically run union, in which the miners control their union, contrast the United Mine Workers. Here the set-up makes it impossible for any one to successfully challenge Mr. Lewis. Mr. Lewis has thirty-one on his board of directors. Every director represents a producing district. Only nine of the thirty-

Courtesy Award Made in Polo

Chicago Motor club judges observed motorists at the intersection of Mason and Franklin streets in Polo for one hour before selecting the winner of the five dollar award in The Evening Telegraph courteous driving campaign. one districts enjoy local self government and actually ballot for their officers. The other twenty-two are known as provisional districts—that is, districts which are not considered fit to elect their officers. They are the wards of Mr. Lewis. He appoints their district presidents, vice presidents, secretaries, treasurers, and the international executive board members. As twenty-two is a clear majority of thirty-one, Lewis remains in complete control. He cannot be removed.

If anything were to happen to Mr. Lewis he could probably dictate his successor. Mr. Lewis is a dictator, even though he may be called a "benevolent" one. Under his leadership, the condition of his men has improved, although in doing so he is pricing coal out of the market in favor of fuel oil, natural gas and electricity. Under his regime, the number of his miners has declined from 700,000 to 400,000.

But, when all is said and done, the issue remains—dictatorship vs. democracy. If the Lewis meth-

T. B. Group Asks Wide Public Use of Seals on Mail

What did you do with the tuberculosis Christmas Seals which you received in the mail on Nov. 25? Did you send money immediately to the Lee County Tuberculosis Association? Or did you return the seals without money?

If you bought and are using the seals you are completing a fine job. If you bought the seals, but are not using them, you have done the first half of a fine job, but left undone the second half—reminding others to buy and use the seals and calling attention to the vital importance of the anti-tuberculosis campaign. If you returned the seals without buying them, you lost a real opportunity to do your part in a big, necessary, wartime job.

The aftermath of war, with its overwork, strain, anxiety, food shortages, over-crowded living and working conditions, broken rest, and lack of proper recreation, creates conditions which foster breakdowns with tuberculosis and its spread from the sick to the well.

Consequently, the association faces a crucial year. All its activities in tuberculosis prevention and control—case-finding in schools and industry, health education, rehabilitation, must be expanded to meet the emergency.

If you have not paid for your seals, please do so at once. If you sent your seals back, please reconsider. Seals are still available at the association's office in the Dixon Public Hospital. If you bought yours, be sure to use them on

Hooting Success

Deaatur, Ill.—(AP)—The 16 stuffed owls mounted atop 187-foot high gas storage tanks are the most successful weapon in ridding Decatur of starlings.

An Association of Commerce committee reported that the stuffed owls stationed at strategic points frightened away uncounted thousands of owl-feeding birds.

The committee estimated more than 20,000 starlings have been exterminated in the city's two months campaign to get rid of the birds.

Chicago Teachers Get Boost; Call Off Strike

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The Men Teachers club, an unaffiliated organization of 850 Chicago school teachers, has postponed a strike, originally set for today, as the result of wage boosts granted yesterday by the board of education.

The board granted increases of $35 a month for elementary teachers and $25 a month for high school instructors.

Herschel N. Scott, president of the club, said members of the recently organized group voted last night to call off the strike for two months "to see what the board of education will do through the legislature and other means to get funds."

Maximum high school salaries previous to the latest increase had been $3,950 annually. The teachers club had asked a 30 per cent increase.

Scott said the $25 increase "does not measure up to our demands x x x and the board program will have to be revised upward some $400 a year."

Lead Poisoning Hits 20,000 Ducks at Alton

Alton, Ill., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Wildlife conservationists said yesterday that approximately 20,000 wild ducks in distress on the Illinois river near Grafton, about 20 miles north of Alton, apparently were suffering from lead poisoning.

Edward A. Davis, federal wildlife conservationist, said examination of some of the ducks which had been found dead in the area showed evidence that they had been poisoned from eating lead shotgun pellets from hunters' guns. Davis visited the area with Superintendent Frank Rosenthal and other officials of the state department of conservation.

The plight of the ducks, on their annual southern migration, was first noticed by two Alto sportsmen, who thought the fowls were starving because feeding grounds were covered with snow and ice. A group of Alto sportsmen and business men raised funds for the purchase of grain, which was scattered in the area.

School Pupils Picket After Coach is Fired

Kankakee, Ill., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Students of nearby St. Anne Community high school picketed yesterday and paraded through the St. Anne business district in protest against the recent dismissal of Charles Morris, 31, former athletic director.

More than 100 of the 230 students normally attending the Kankakee county high school stayed away from classes and picketed the school building until sheriff's deputies dispersed them. The students later paraded, carrying signs asking that Morris be re-employed. Morris was not re-assigned to his pre-war coaching position after he returned to the school last September after service in the navy.

J. B. Johnson, St. Anne superintendent of schools, said Morris was dismissed Dec. 20 after he had been fined in a justice of the peace court after striking Floyd Bear, a member of the board of education.

City Payroll Boost is At Mayor's Expense

Marion, Ill., Jan. 9.—(AP)—The Marion mayor's salary today was used to boost salaries for city employees—with his honor's approval. In fact, it was Mayor Harry L. Crisp's own idea to fix his own pay at $1 a year as long as he holds the office, instead of the statutory $1,200, and to eliminate his $50 monthly salary as liquor control commissioner.

Mayor Crisp's proposal was approved by city council and he then obtained passage of a resolution providing for $10 monthly increases for each city employee for the remainder of the fiscal year. Thus, after the mayor's virtual

Miami, Fla., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Police were checking into the story today of a 20-year-old youth who last night called headquarters on the telephone and declared he was "wanted all over the country" for various crimes he had committed.

Patrolman R. L. Martin said the youth, who gave his name as Hall R. Cutler of Gary, Ind., asked that a patrol car be sent to his place of residence.

When police brought him to headquarters, Martin said, Cutler told police he was wanted in Indianapolis, Ind., for robbery, and in Chicago, Rockford, Ill.; Mad-

A black and white cartoon illustration. In the center, a man in a suit and a woman in a dark dress are dancing. The man is holding a small object, possibly a cigarette. In the background, another man is walking away. A typewriter is visible in the foreground. The signature 'Gellman' is in the bottom right corner.

"Don't tell me that's your boss—the fellow a big strong man like you doesn't dare ask for a raise!"

HOW TO PICK AN ALL-WEATHER WIFE

New York, Jan. 2.—(AP).—"Dear sir," is the letter "since you have set me up on the street," says the philosopher, perhaps you'll tell a poor young man like me how to pick a wife."

Certainly, Horace, nothing could be easier. Knock the snow off your boots, my boy, and sit down. Take off those plaid earmuffs and listen:

You begin with iron have staked the problem wrong. The distracted, Hy. Horace, is not in picking a good all-weather wife, but in avoiding the iron grasp of a woman who merely wants to train you to bring your paycheck home to your mouth.

In your state of mind you should keep your track shoes on at all times, ready for a quick getaway. A man who admits he is in the market for a wife, Horace, is deer in the open snow with tailwolves closing in.

That small salary you tote home my boy, may look meager to you, but there are a million fellow producers who would like to turn it into fur money.

So start off by pretending you don't want a wife. Be subtle, Horace. Run your own bargain sale. Take your candidates over the company workmen and attempted to interfere with their work. Other state witnesses gave similar testimony. Faris and two other members of the construction party suffered injuries that required medical attention.

Farmers, business and professional people, investors, landlords and certain wage-earners whose 1946 tax was not substantially paid by withholding must beat a deadline of Jan. 15 in filing and paying estimated tax, according to Nigel D. Campbell, office of the Collector of Internal Revenue.

Campbell said in a communication received here yesterday that Jan. 15 is not a tax date for any wage-earner who had tax withheld, provided he did not have more than $100 of other income and his wages did not exceed $5,000, plus $500 for each exemption except his own (that is, $6,000 for a man with a wife and one dependent child).

Final 1946 income tax returns are due by March 15 from all taxpayers, but if filed by Jan. 15 will serve as both return and estimate for 1946.

es were summoned to Greene County court today to testify in the trial of 14 AFL Electrical workers charged with riotous acts in a fracas with employees of the Illinois Rural Electric Co. last Nov. 14.

Eight defense witnesses, including Gordon Prather, a steward of the union local at Winchester, the headquarters of the REA cooperative, testified yesterday that they acted in self defense in the fight which occurred near Athensville.

Prather said that as he and other defendants, approached members of a company construction crew "to explain our situation to the new men" employed by the company, a cooperative employee "threw a digging tool" at him. Prather said he began fighting when he saw "four or five men ready to pile on me."

The defendants went on strike against the cooperative last Sept. 26 in support of union shop demands.

Stanley Faris, general manager of the cooperative, which supplies power to 4,000 consumers in west central Illinois, testified earlier that the defendants assaulted
